HALL ACQUITTED

Man Accused of Assaulting Wife and "Stealing" Child Dismissed.
Charles D. Hall, thirty-four years old, a carpenter, was acquitted yesterday morning in Police Court of the charge of assaulting his wife.

Mrs. Hall returned to her home, 507 North Twenty-fifth Street, several nights ago and found her four-year-old daughter missing. Her screams drew a large crowd and the police airs. Hall said her husbaud had "kick mapped" the child. The latter was found in possession of the father. Mrs. Hall caused his arrest on the charge of assaulting her, but there was no evidence to sustdin this when the case was called before Justice Crutchfield.
